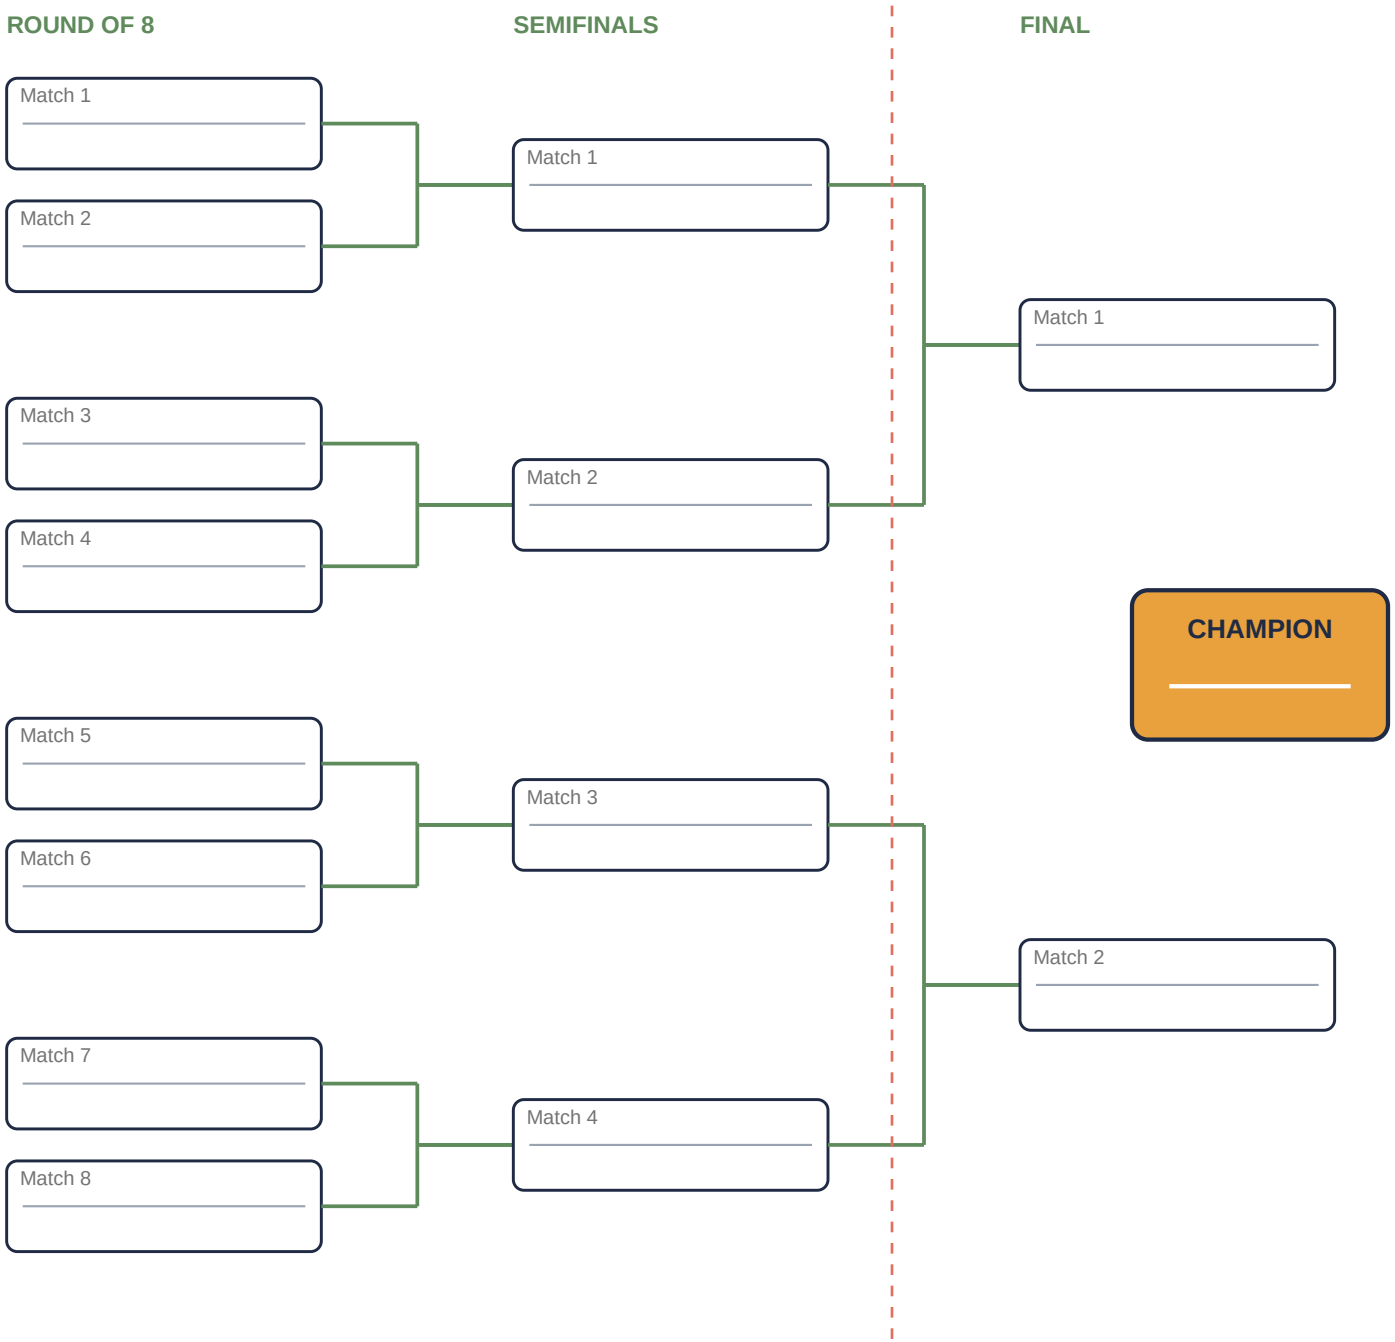
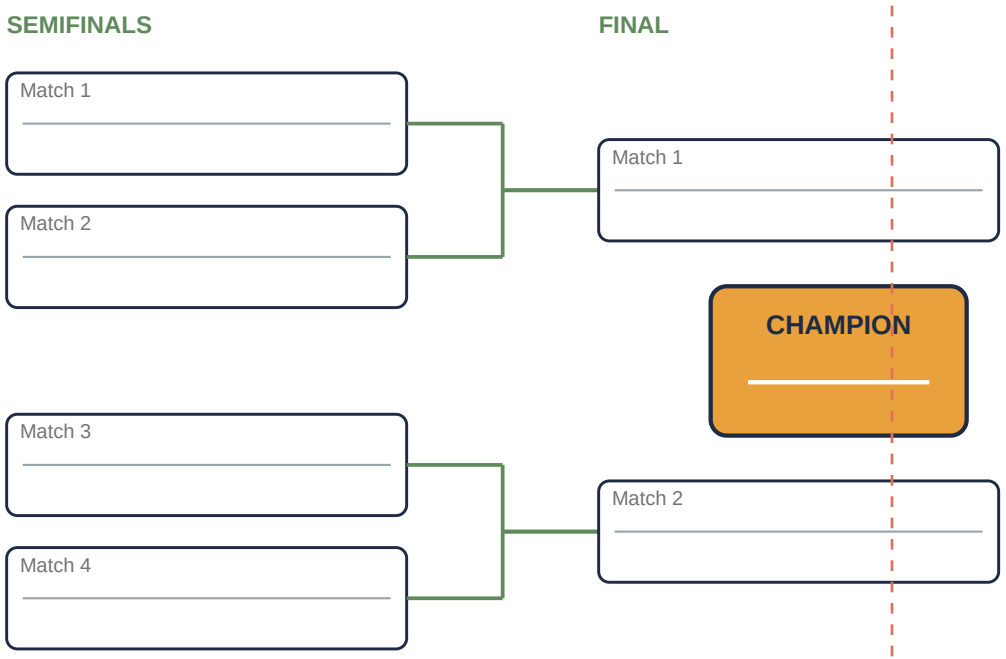
Write names as players join. Fold along the dotted line, then in thirds, to slip it into the card box.



A quick bracket for short attention spans and after-dinner playoffs.



Small-table rules (they keep every bracket friendly)

* Two-game guarantee: play a sorry-I-won rematch so everyone plays twice.
* Winner picks the next game; runner-up picks the snack order.
* No stalemates: sudden-death 'next hand wins' settles every tie.
* Losers are an official committee. Their verdict: dramatically narrate the final.